The lands offered for sale by the Illinois Central Railroad Company are some of the best in the world. A healthy climate, a rich soil, and railroads convenient to market the farmers of the earth—all combine to place in the hands of the enterprising workman the means of independence.

ILLINOIS.

Extending 200 miles from North to South, has all the diversity of climate to be found between Massachusetts and Virginia, and varieties of soil adapted to the products of New England and those of the Middle States. The best soil in the central portion of the States—the richest known, and produces the finest corn, wheat, sorghum and hay, which latter crop, during the past year, has been highly remunerative. The raising of these is taken grass, for pasturage, offers to farmers with capital the most profitable results. The excellent prairie, when sown with timothy, in the same manner as the best of the West, produces the best of winter wheat, timothy, hay, hemp and flax. The lands will further furnish are heavily timbered, and have the raising of fruit, tobacco, cotton and the manufacture of lumber yield large returns. The health of Illinois is hardly surpassed by any State in the Union.

GRAIN AND STOCK RAISING.

In the list of crops and stock producing States, Illinois stands pre-eminently first. The advantages for raising cattle and hogs are well known to the farmer and stock raiser. For sheep raising, the lands in every part of the State are well adapted, and Illinois has now found of many of the best flocks in the country. No branch of industry offers greater inducements for investment.

FRUIT.

The central and southern parts of the State are particularly adapted to fruit raising; and peaches, pines and strawberries, raised together with early vegetables, are sent to CHICAGO, St. Louis and Cincinnati, as well as other markets, and always command a ready sale.

TO ACTUAL SETTLERS

The Government's policy is so exact that the Company has already sold 1,000,000 acres, and the sales during the year just have been at a larger number of purchasers than ever before. The advantages to a man of small means, settling in Illinois, where his children may grow up with all the benefits of education and the best of public schools, are hardly to be over-estimated. No State in the Union is increasing more rapidly in population, which has tripled in ten years along the line of the Railroad.

The price of land varies from $5 to $12 and upward per acre, and they are sold on long credit, on short credit, or for cash. A deduction of one per cent. from the long credit price is made to those who make a payment of one fourth of the purchase price, and the balance in two, and three years. A deduction of twenty per cent. is made to those who purchase for cash. Never before have greater inducements been offered to cash purchasers.
