

FRANKLIN HUBBLE MACKEY

ESTEEMED MEMBER OF DISTRICT BAR.

Author of Treatises on Legal Subjects and a Book of Poems Circulated Among His Friends.

LAWYERS REGRET
DEATH OF MACKEY

For Many Years Member of Washington Bar.

AUTHOR OF SEVERAL BOOKS

Funeral Arrangements Will Not Be Completed Until Arrival of Brother From Oklahoma.

The news of the death of Franklin Hubble Mackey, at his home in the Olympian apartment house yesterday morning, was learned with great regret by members of the Washington bar.

On all sides expressions of regret were heard. For over a quarter of a century he had been an active practitioner in the different branches of the District courts, and by his honesty of purpose and genial companionship had endeared himself to all who knew him.

Mr. Mackey was a man of high literary attainments and was the author of standard treatises on legal subjects, and of a book of poems which he had printed for distribution among his friends.

Veteran of Confederacy.

Mr. Mackey was born in Charleston, S. C., in 1812. He was educated at the South Carolina University, and afterward studied law in Philadelphia, Pa. At the outbreak of the civil war he entered the Confederate army as a private.

He served throughout the war in the ranks and took part in twenty-six battles. He was a member of Company A, Fifth Infantry, Confederate States army, and served under Gen. Meach Jenkins, near whom he was when the latter was killed at Seven Oaks.

Mr. Mackey was a man of more than ordinary ability. At one time he was in the newspaper business and worked as a reporter on several of the largest newspapers in Chicago. He was the author of "Mackey's Practice," which is recognized as a standard authority by members of the bar. He also was reporter for the decisions of the District courts, and for ten years was editor of the "Law Reporter."

Practiced in All Courts.

Mr. Mackey came to Washington in 1876 and entered upon the practice of his profession. He practiced in all of the courts of the District, the Supreme Court of the United States, and the Court of Claims.

At the time of his death he was interested in a large number of important cases pending in these courts.

He was also a man of great literary attainments, spoke German and French fluently, and was fond of reading old Greek and Latin authors. Mr. Mackey also wrote many beautiful poems. These he had bound and distributed among his friends. The volume, however, was never offered to the public.

Mr. Mackey leaves a widow, but no children.

Funeral Arrangements.

Arrangements for the funeral will not be completed until the arrival of Mr. Mackey's brother from Oklahoma. A dispatch was received from him yesterday, announcing that he had started for Washington, and would reach here Monday.

It is probable the funeral will be held either tomorrow afternoon or Tuesday morning. Interment will be at Glenwood.

DEATH OF FRIEND
OF MRS. MAYBRICK

Mrs. Helen Densmore, Wife of Brooklyn
Manufacturer, Had No Physician in Her Last Illness.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Helen Densmore, wife of Dr. Emmett Densmore, a prominent Brooklyn manufacturer, died today, the cause of death being given as asthma.

The physician who was called in the case shortly before her death, has asked for an investigation, as she had not previously been treated by a regular physician. Because he had not been called in at an earlier stage in the illness, the physician refused to issue a death certificate, and notified the coroner's office.

Dr. Densmore and wife founded the Natural Food Society of London, and for the past fourteen years they have been constant in their efforts on behalf of Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who was their guest on her arrival in this country, after her release from the English prison.

Mrs. Densmore was seventy-one years old.

Mrs. Maybrick was with Mrs. Densmore up to the time of her death.

CHAMBERLAINS IN LONDON.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Joseph Chamber-

FIRST CAR RUNS TO
FAIRFAX COURT HOUSE

Conditions of Governor Willard's Offer of $25,000 Complied With by Railway.

The conditions of the offer of Lieut. Gov. Joseph E. Willard to subscribe $25,000 to the Washington, Arlington and Falls Church Railway Company have probably been complied with by the opening yesterday of the new line extension to Fairfax Court House, Va. It is said the contract has been carried out by the company, and the subscription of Mr. Willard will probably be made in due course of time.

Mr. Willard, whose home is at Fairfax Court House, Va., some time ago volunteered to subscribe $25,000 to the company to insure the opening of the extension. The first car was run over the new line yesterday, and the road now furnishes continuous service from the Aqueduct Bridge to Fairfax Court House.

Nothing definite can be learned as to whether Lieutenant Governor Willard's contract has been fully complied with.

11/27/1904-Washington DC