

MIDDLEBURG.

In the 23rd year of her life Miss Jennie Hubble, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hubble, of Middleburg, died Thursday, after a severe illness of several weeks of typhoid fever, during which time she had the best care loving hearts and hands could bestow upon her. God has willed to take from our midst this sweet spirit and her family, home and community are indeed bereft. She was born near Turnersville, Nov. 22, 1883. When 15 years of age she united with the Christian church at Turnersville and her life has been a daily testimony that the love of her Savior filled her soul. All who knew her remember some kind word or deed and to her family she is one whose daily ministrations will be sorely missed. It is hard to say Thy will be done, but He who gave His only son to be crucified will not ask of us more than we can give. What greater comfort can there be than to know that she died in the faith and in our sorrow to believe that she is now where there is no more sorrow, pain or sin.

Family Skeleton.

Many a person's family skeleton is a state of weak digestive organs inherited from careless ancestors. The skeleton can be laid Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin.

IN MEMORIAM.

Miss Jennie Hubble, formerly of Turnersville, but for the last few years a resident of Middleburg, died at her home on Thursday, Oct. 26.

The dreaded disease, typhoid fever, entered the home and took away the jewel. She had been in poor health for some time. Miss Hubble had been visiting relatives in Somerset and Burnside, and on returning from the latter place took her bed. Just before leaving her home for the last time her favorite hymn, "One of These Days," was sung. The remains were taken to McKinney cemetery and after a short service, all that was mortal was consigned to mother earth. Miss Hubble is survived by her parents, three brothers and two sisters. She was a lovable young woman and to know her was to love her. Jennie was a christian-hearted girl and will be missed not only by her many friends and relatives, but by the church she attended. Her many friends share the grief of the bereaved family.
